

Operation Fuel Receives Donations

Hartford, Conn. – Operation Fuel recently received the following donations for its energy programs:

- The Wayne Eisenbaum Charitable Foundation of Old Saybrook, Conn., has donated $20,000.
- The Renee B. Fisher Foundation Fund, a donor advised fund at The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven, has donated $15,000.
- HCC Global Financial Products, a specialty insurance company which is based in Farmington, has donated $10,000.
- The William and Alice Mortensen Foundation, which is based in Hartford, has donated $10,000.
- William and Jean Graustein Fund, a donor advised fund at The Chicago Community Foundation has donated $10,000.
- The ERJ Fund, a donor advised fund at The Community Foundation for Greater New Haven, has donated $5,500.
- The Connecticut Health Foundation, of Hartford, has donated $5,000.
- The Farmington Bank Community Foundation has donated $5,000 for the Homeless Intervention and Prevention Program (HIPP).
- The Feldman Family Philanthropic Fund, a donor advised fund at the Jewish Foundation of Greater New Haven, has donated $5,000.
- The Laura J. Niles Foundation, which is based in Greenwich, has donated $5,000 for the Homeless Intervention and Prevention Program (HIPP).
- The Marion Isabell Coe Fund, U.S. Trust, Bank of America, N.A trustee, has awarded a $5,000 grant for residents of Litchfield County.
- The James H. Napier Foundation, of Meriden, has awarded a $5,000 grant for households in Meriden and Wallingford.
- The Thomas Atkins Memorial Fund Trust, U.S. Trust, Bank of America, N.A trustee, has donated $5,000 for residents of Middletown.

Operation Fuel provides year-round emergency energy assistance throughout Connecticut to lower-income working families and individuals, the elderly, and disabled individuals who are in a financial crisis. Anyone who needs energy assistance should call 211 or visit www.operationfuel.org. For more information on Operation Fuel, or to make a donation, go to www.operationfuel.org.

Operation Fuel Receives Donations

Hartford, Conn. – Operation Fuel recently received the following donations for its energy programs:

- The Katharine Matthies Foundation, U.S. Trust, Bank of America, N.A trustee, has awarded a grant of $4,500 for emergency energy assistance for residents of the Lower Naugatuck Valley.
- The People’s United Community Foundation, which is based in Bridgeport, has donated $4,500 for the Homeless Intervention and Prevention Program (HIPP).
- The Bruyette Family Foundation has donated $4,000.
- The George A. and Grace L. Long Foundation, U.S. Trust, Bank of America, N.A co-trustee, has donated $3,000 for emergency energy assistance for Hartford County residents.
- The George H. C. Ensworth Memorial Fund, U.S. Trust, Bank of America, N.A trustee has donated $3,000 for emergency energy assistance for residents of Glastonbury.
- The Ion Bank Foundation, which is based in Naugatuck, has donated $3,000.
- The Fuller Family Foundation has donated $2,500.
- The Franklin Conklin Foundation has awarded a grant of $2,000.
- The Hartford’s Windsor Grant Committee has awarded a grant $1,500.
- The Sandra and Arnold Chase Family Foundation, Inc., which is located in Hartford, has donated $1,250.
- The McCormack Foundation has donated $1,000.
- The Aldo DeDominicis Foundation, of Hamden, has donated $800.

Operation Fuel provides year-round emergency energy assistance throughout Connecticut to lower-income working families and individuals, the elderly, and disabled individuals who are in a financial crisis. Anyone who needs energy assistance should call 211 or visit www.operationfuel.org. For more information on Operation Fuel, or to make a donation, go to www.operationfuel.org.